

Takin' It to the Streets

Two of Australia's most loved and successful female recording artists, Christine Anu and Deni Hines, planning on takin' it to the streets again in 2009 after the success of their sell-out East-Coast of Australia tour in 2007! In a two-hour show, each artist will perform a 45-minute set of their classic hits and favourite songs, along with some special duets, including their own rendition of the Doobie Brothers' hit "Takin It To The Streets".

"I've always been a fan of Christine's, kind of like a kindred sister in some ways and she's got a wicked sense of humour. She is loads of fun! We are pretty spontaneous gals so each show is always a little unpredictable in a good way," says Deni with a mischievous glint in her eye.

"Deni and I have followed each other's careers and our paths are very similar. We record albums, do musical theatre, TV, etc, plus we keep bumping into each other, so it made sense for us to hit the road together. Deni is heaps of fun to be on the road with," says Christine.

Both Christine and Deni are without a doubt considered two of Australia's foremost entertainers. From hit singles and albums, to lead roles in musicals and television, both ladies have grown up in front of audiences from enthusiastic young performers to mature, sophisticated all round entertainers.

Deni Hines is exclusively managed by Karen-Lee Goody @ Entertainment Consulting.
